Introduction

PILLARS is an Alliance for Education and Enterprises, aiming to co-create relevant skills and facilitate the flow of knowledge on sustainable impact. The innovativeness of PILLARS is in acknowledging ‘impact management’ as an emerging profession, which lacks structure, relevant skillset, requires supporting training and needs dedicated digital tools.

Project objectives

PILLARS is a Erasmus+ Knowledge Alliance supporting impact managers as an emerging profession.

1.

Co-create competence and measuring frameworks as methodological foundation for managing impact in organisations, using strategic participatory foresight with multiple stakeholders

2.

Design digital tools for capturing and scaling impact in projects and as processes, using competence and methodological frameworks

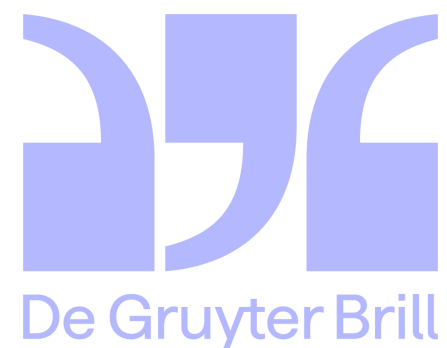

3.

Develop a training course for Impact Managers using micro-credential approach to enable an emerging profession with the relevant skill set 4.

Build community of practice to accelerate impact as a mindset in the broader socio-economic environment

Research areas

 Question 1

How do we actually measure impact of what we have delivered, looking into the past activities?

 Question 2

How can we build on collective intelligence to deliver impact for our current activities?

 Question 3

How can we capture signals and megatrends to mutually anticipate future impact?

 Question 4

How can stakeholder co-creation be used to influence and articulate policy that will shape holistic impact performance?

 Question 5

What skills are required to understand, plan and realize impact as part of projects, processes, and the emerging profession of impact managers?
