Overview of impact co-creation through sustainable use of project outputs

IRDO's early contribution

Anita Hrast, IRDO's co-founder and manager, contributed to the first PILLARS e-magazine and its first satellite podcast. This marked the initial step toward IRDO becoming a key PILLARS external strategic partner.

IRDO's role in the bootcamp

IRDO was invited to act as an external evaluator in the first PILLARS bootcamp. The pilot supported young people exploring sustainability-focused careers and developing practical skills for creating positive impact.

IRDO for curriculum validation

IRDO offers sustainability-focused professional courses and will integrate the PILLARS curriculum from autumn 2026, strengthening its offer with impact-oriented skills.
